

ROARING THUNDER

A white silhouette of a biplane is centered on a dark blue background. The vertical stabilizer (tail fin) is replaced by Mickey Mouse's iconic ears. The wings are spread wide, and the fuselage is visible below the wings.

THE PREMIER SOURCE FOR PRIVATE JET TERMINAL ADVERTISING

FROM INTERNATIONAL VIEW MAGAZINE EXCERPTS FROM "LEAVING ON A JET PLANE" BY ANDREW SHIRLEY

“The world’s wealthiest individuals are time poor and publicity shy. It’s hardly surprising then that private jet travel is growing in popularity whether for business or pleasure.”

“Nice’s Cote d’Azure airport, for example, saw more private jets take off and land in 2016 than Geneva, while Nassau in the Bahamas is the airport that can claim the most flights to and from a single country—over 10,000 with the US.”

“Given that over 60% of private jets are based in the US, it’s not surprising that New York’s Teterboro airport is the busiest—almost 132,000 flights in 2016...”

“Jet numbers have increased by 44% to almost 21,000 during the past 10 years, according to industry analyst JETNET.”

“In terms of popularity, East Hampton in the US was the fastest growing destination with private jet numbers rising by 55% since 2012.”

“With privacy becoming an ever more important commodity, private jet travel looks set to become even more popular.”
